Stay at Home Message

As you will have heard from Prime Minister Johnson's announcement on Monday evening, the overriding message currently is for everyone to stay at home where possible. We are aware of the Prime Minister and the government's message that we need to reduce the amount of contacts that we have as much as possible and would ask you to work with us to keep our whole community as safe as possible. With this in mind we would continue to ask that your child only attends the critical worker / vulnerable pupil provision when absolutely necessary. We are currently providing double the number of spaces for children of critical workers and vulnerable pupils when compared to the previous lockdown in March.

Oxford Owl Online Reading

A reminder that we have subscribed to www.oxfordowl.co.uk. This website provides a range of eBooks that your child will now be able to access from home. Each class has their own login which your child can use to access books from our reading scheme on any mobile, tablet, laptop or desktop computer and is intended to supplement their reading at home. An information sheet with instructions on how to get logged in and start choosing books and also details your child's class login have been emailed home last term.

Pick n Mix Homework

Today will see the return of our Pick N Mix homework. Please note that this is entirely optional. There is absolutely no expectation that your child completes this homework but is intended as an additional resource should you need one.

Nursery News

Happy New Year to all our families.

This week in Nursery we have had great fun making rockets and travelling to the moon on adventures. Thank you to all of you that got involved at home too, we have loved seeing your pictures and how unique all of the rockets are. We wonder what adventures will take place next week!

Have a lovely weekend
The Nursery Team
